

Scrap 2.

De to the Tambourine Bird, under the bad moon rising over,

I sound my barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world.

-Walt Whitman-

1692,

Here lay a Judas WITCH, Damned, from here to eternity, these wicked bones' buried beneath this exiled tombstone stands an abomination unto God's most sacred eye. Adjudicated, His Honor, doomed this dead on the cloven hoof Witch was hung on Gallows Hill, in the year of our Lord, 1692, damned so evil, it was decreed, should not be uttered on earth the human name lays beneath this slate sidewalk in Salem, Massachusetts. Executed, the Witch cursed, forevermore, to hearing the echos of walking over this reviled grave. The footsteps of man and kindred, amen, amen, praise the Lord.
